BRIGHAM YOUNG ACADEMY

Brigham Young Academy, Provo, Sept. 25.—D. P. Felt of Salt Lake City dropped in to the academy for a short call Wednesday morning.

President Cluff went to Beaver Wednesday evening to attend to the affairs of the branch institution at that place, Miss Trysa Boyer and Miss Nora Broadbent, former stidents of the academy, spent Thursday shaking hands with old friends.

The gymnasium classes have now been thoroughly organized with Prof. Swenson and Eugene L. Roberts as instructors. Both classes are large and the members very much interested in the invigorating work. The normal department is exceptionally large this year, there being already nearly 400 students enrolled.

The excursion to the Provo bench fruit farms last Saturday was a great fruit farms last saturday was a great success. The students visited several of the large farms and were treated well by the superintendents of each. At one place the gentleman in charge gave an interesting and beneficial talk on how to plant and care for trees.

The board of directors of The White and Blue have selected Frank Day as and Blue have selected Frank Day as managing editor and Eugene Roberts as local editor of the school paper. These will be assisted by a staff of associates consisting of C. S. Jarvis, to represent the scientific department; Robert Sainsbury, who will attend to the pedagogical, J. W. Young, to take charge of the literary items, and Sytha Brown and Katherine Harvey to assist in the local department. The board also appointed Roy Murdock as business manager and O. W. Jarvis and Robert Townsend as his assistants.

The students met en masse last Saturday evening in college hall and reorganized the Literary society of the academy. As is usually the case at such meetings class patriotism and politics prevailed throughout the election of officers and nominees for the various positions were numerous. The 1968's succeeded in electing R. T. Higgs, Jr., of their class, to the position of president. The '07s came next in order with Miss Dora Murdock as vice president.
Then the '03s elected Miss Effle Howe as secretary; and the '08s succeeded in getting Joseph Boreguard as treasurer.

There are now nearly 60 students encolled as first year normals. Prof. Cluff will deliver a lecture be fore the members of the Polysophica! society on Friday evening. The athletic association has been or canized with Ernest Hamock as presiparations are being made for effective work in this direction the coming year Prof. Maeser entertained Polysophical society last Friday evening with a talk on "Chinatown" and during the evening three vocal selections were ren. dered by Prof. Durham.

Class organizations have been effocted and everything now points to a very prosperous year.

BRANCH NORMAL.

Cedar City-From present indications the Branch Normal is to have a considerably greater attendance this year than ever before. About 150 students are now registered.

The domestic science classes are already fully organized. This department seems to be filling a long felt want from the way students are regis-tering for it.

Conventions were held by the school and the various classes Monday after-noon at which nominations for the ofelection is to take place Friday next. The Students society began work last Friday evening by electing officers for
